Media Coverage

- Media holds a lot of leverage in what gets airtime
- ↑Coverage = ↑Public engagement
- Can also affect tone
- Policy Agenda = the collection of issues the media brings into focus that the government can address
 - “spin” = a unique framing of a problem that leads people towards a certain view
 - Political Capital = reputation among other politicians and the public that can be expended for policy
 - * Almost like a currency

Practice FRQ

One of the most important ways the news media influence politics is through agenda setting. - a. Define policy agenda - b. Explain how the national news media engage in agenda setting - c. Explain the primary reason the president tends to have an advantage over Congress in gaining media attention

Answer

- a. Policy agenda is the collection of issues the media chooses to focus on through selective airing and tone.

- b. Media sources only have a limited amount of time they can expect their audience to consume their media. Through selectively choosing to give airtime to certain issues and putting a “spin” on their presentation, they can develop the issues that are prevalent in the common consciousness.
- c. Electoral elections get much higher voter turnout than do congressional elections; more people pay attention to the president. Additionally, the president is easier to tie into a narrative; individual intentions become clearer when they are directed by a single person as opposed to a body of elected officials.

Bias in the Media

- Two types of bias
 - Ideological bias = some media outlets exhibit a right-left lean
 - * CNN(Clinton News Network)
 - * Fox News
 - Structural bias = stories are chosen and presented in order to get good ratings—not necessarily to present the truth
 - * “If it bleeds, it leads.”

Divided Government

- Caused by a number of factors
 - Development of social issues over last 4 decades
 - * Gay marriage
 - * Abortion
 - * Women's rights
 - * Civil rights

Emergence of Political Parties

- Political machines emerged in the early 1800's
 - Exchanged favors for votes
 - * Especially immigrants
- Patronage = elected officials giving benefits to loyal party supporters
 - Giving jobs to campaigners
- Pendleton Civil Service Act = an attempt to make civil service meritocratic
 - Hurt power of political machines
- Local parties have better organization than national parties
- Primary
 - An election orchestrated by a political party that selects a candidate
 - Closed Primary = only voters registered as that party can vote
 - Open Primary = independents and those registered as that party can vote
 - Inhibits parties from choosing the candidate they want
 - * Unless you're the DNC; in which case, screw that lol
- Coalition = a group of voters that share a common interest
 - Typically support one party over a period of time
 - Voting in blocks makes endorsements important for candidates

Party Eras

- Party Era = a period of time when one political party is dominant
 - Caused by coalitions growing and shrinking in size
- Critical Election = an election that serves as boundaries between party eras
 - e.g. FDR in 1932
- Party Realignment = new issue redraws coalition bounds, changing the political parties in the process
