The Development of Media

- Herbert Hoover(1929-1933)
 - Little to no media involvement in politics
- Franklin Delano Roosevelt(1933-1945)
 - Modern media becomes intertwined with politics
 - "Fireside chats"
 - * Press conferences twice per week
 - * Based on radio
 - * Press thought highly of FDR
 - Personality is FDR's greatest asset

- Uses media to help mental health of nation
 - * Morale booster
 - * Sympathizes with issues Americans face
- 1960's see beginning of scornful media
 - Wategate scandal lampoons Nixon
 - Vietnam war creates sense of disallusionment with government
 - Investigative journalism = The use of in-depth study of a case to reveal the details of a particular subject
 - * Helps to reinforce negative view of government
 - * Media is seen as limiting force on government

Media Coverage

- Media holds a lot of leverage in what gets airtime
- \uparrow Coverage = \uparrow Public engagement
- Can also affect tone
- Policy Agenda = the collection of issues the media brings into focus that the government can address
 - "spin" = a unique framing of a problem that leads people towards a certain view
 - Political Capital = reputation among other politicians and the public that can be expended for policy
 - * Almost like a currency

Practice FRQ

One of the most important ways the news media influence politics is through agenda setting.

- a. Define policy agenda
- b. Explain how the national news media engage in agenda setting
- c. Explain the primary reason the president tends to have an advantage over Congress in gaining media attention

Answer

- a. Policy agenda is the collection of issues the media chooses to focus on through selective airing and tone.
- b. Media sources only have a limited amount of time they can expect their audience to consume their media. Through selectively choosing to give airtime to certain issues and putting a "spin" on their presentation, they can develop the issues that are prevalent in the common consciousness.
- c. Electoral elections get much higher voter turnout than do congressional elections; more people pay attention to the president. Additionally, the president is easier to tie into a narrative; individual intentions become clearer when they are directed by a single person as opposed to a body of elected officials.

Bias in the Media

- Two types of bias
 - Ideological bias = some media outlets exhibit a right-left lean
 - * CNN(Clinton News Network)
 - * Fox News
 - Structural bias = stories are chosen and presented in orer to get good ratings-not necessarily to present the truth
 - * "If it bleeds, it leads."

Political Parties as Linkage Institutions

- Political Party = an organization that strives for maintaining political office
- Can be thought of as three parts
 - The electorate
 - The organization
 - Elected officials
- Actions
 - Nominate political candidates

- Run and administer campaigns
- Coordinate policy-making
- Incumbent = an official seeking re-election
- Grassroots Mobilization = a political movement organized with a bottom-up approach
 - For example, an Anarchist revolution :D
- Ticket-Splitting = in an election where multiple ballots are cast for different positions, the voter votes for different parties for each position
 - causes divided government

Divided Government

- Caused by a number of factors
 - Development of social issues over last 4 decades
 - * Gay marriage
 - * Abortion
 - * Women's rights
 - * Civil rights

Emergence of Political Parties

- Political machines emerged in the early 1800's
 - Exchanged favors for votes
 - * Especially immigrants
- Patronage = elected officials giving benefits to loyal party supporters
 - Giving jobs to campaigners
- Pendleton Civil Service Act = an attempt to make civil service meritocratic
 - Hurt power of political machines
- Local parties have better organization than national parties
- Primary
 - An election orchestrated by a political party that selects a candidate
 - Closed Primary = only voters registered as that party can vote

- Open Primary = independents and those registered as that party can vote
- Inhibits parties from choosing the candidate they want
 - * Unless you're the DNC; in which case, screw that lol
- Coalition = a group of voters that share a common interest
 - Typically support one party over a period of time
 - Voting in blocks makes endorsements important for candidates

Party Eras

- Party Era = a period of time when one political party is dominant
 - Caused by coalitions growing and shrinking in size
- Critical Election = an election that serves as boundaries between party eras
 - e.g. FDR in 1932
- Party Realignment = new issue redraws coilition bounds, changing the political parties in the process

Party Eras in History

- New Deal Coalition = 1932-1968
 - Voted consistently for Democratic party
 - Groups included
 - * Urban working class
 - * African Americans
 - * Catholics and Jews
 - * Lower-income families
 - * Southerners
- Divided Government Coalition = 1968-present
 - Presidential elections typically don't align with Congressional results
 - Caused by number of things
 - * Distrust in government
 - · Vietnam war
 - · Watergate scandal

- · Investigative journalism
- * Social issues emerge
 - · Abortion
- Dealignment = party coalitions start to shift, many people disengage

Third Parties

- Can serve to spread messages into the popular consciousness
- "Splinter", "Economic Protest", "Charismatic Leader"
- Disenfranchised by our electoral system
 - First Pas the Post/Single Member District voting
 - * Winner takes all, nothing for loser
 - * "Democracy is nothing more than mob rule, where 51% of the people may take away the rights of the other 49%." Jefferson
- Proportional Representation = seats in Congress are distributed based on votes received by each party
- Coalition Government = multiple parties come together to make policy

What Are Interest Groups?

- Interest Group = a body of people who organize under similar policy goals
- How is that different from a "political party"?
 - Political parties offer candidates for president
 - Interest groups are policy specialists
 - * Means they write legislation on a very specific issue
 - Political parties are policy generalists
 - * Means they write legislation for broad purposes

Negative Perception of Interest Groups

- Generally, interest groups are seen as a negative influence on politics
- Why?
 - Framers of the constitution looked down on "factions"?
 - * James Madison, Federalist Paper #10

- · Warns against factions
- Corrupt lobbyists get a lot of attention by the media
- "Lobbying" seen as corporate influence on politics

Iron Triangles

- Iron Triangle = a relationship formed between Congress, interest groups, and federal agencies(the Bureaucracy)
- Issue Network = groups of entities that are connected through the effort to get a law passed

Running for President

- Presidential Primary = election through which candidates for president are selected
 - Caucus = people gather in a room and vote with their feet, each candidate has a chance to convince the others
 - * Like how Mongol societies voted with horse
 - * Iowa is first caucus
 - Primary = simple ballot casting procedure that selects a candidate using the FPTP system
 - Criticism
 - * Early caucuses and primaries get more attention
 - * Later states are discouraged from participating if not a close race
 - * Frontloading = state holds a primary or caucus early to get all that sweet, sweet media attention
- National Party Convention = delegates allocated during primary season meet to vote for who the party's official candidate will be
 - Usually, primary winner is already known due to vote count
 - * Doesn't stop media from making damned good use of all that footage of balloons falling
 - Serves to unite the party after a bitter primary season
 - Isn't as big a deal as it used to be
