The Development of Media

- Herbert Hoover(1929-1933)
  - Little to no media involvement in politics
- Franklin Delano Roosevelt(1933-1945)
  - Modern media becomes intertwined with politics
  - "Fireside chats"
    - * Press conferences twice per week
    - * Based on radio
    - * Press thought highly of FDR
  - Personality is FDR's greatest asset

- Uses media to help mental health of nation
  - * Morale booster
  - * Sympathizes with issues Americans face
- 1960's see beginning of scornful media
  - Wategate scandal lampoons Nixon
  - Vietnam war creates sense of disallusionment with government
  - Investigative journalism = The use of in-depth study of a case to reveal the details of a particular subject
    - * Helps to reinforce negative view of government
    - * Media is seen as limiting force on government

Media Coverage

- Media holds a lot of leverage in what gets airtime
- $\uparrow$ Coverage =  $\uparrow$ Public engagement
- Can also affect tone
- Policy Agenda = the collection of issues the media brings into focus that the government can address
  - "spin" = a unique framing of a problem that leads people towards a certain view
  - Political Capital = reputation among other politicians and the public that can be expended for policy
    - * Almost like a currency

Practice FRQ

One of the most important ways the news media influence politics is through agenda setting.

- a. Define policy agenda - b. Explain how the national news media engage in agenda setting - c. Explain the primary reason the president tends to have an advantage over Congress in gaining media attention

Answer

• a. Policy agenda is the collection of issues the media chooses to focus on through selective airing and tone.

- b. Media sources only have a limited amount of time they can expect their audience to consume their media. Through selectively choosing to give airtime to certain issues and putting a "spin" on their presentation, they can develop the issues that are prevalent in the common consciousness.
- c. Electoral elections get much higher voter turnout than do congressional elections; more people pay attention to the president. Additionally, the president is easier to tie into a narrative; individual intentions become clearer when they are directed by a single person as opposed to a body of elected officials.

Bias in the Media

- Two types of bias
  - Ideological bias = some media outlets exhibit a right-left lean
    - * CNN(Clinton News Network)
    - * Fox News
  - Structural bias = stories are chosen and presented in orer to get good ratings-not necessarily to present the truth
    - * "If it bleeds, it leads."

Political Parties as Linkage Institutions

- Political Party = an organization that strives for maintaining political office
- Can be thought of as three parts
  - The electorate
  - The organization
  - Elected officials
- Actions
  - Nominate political candidates
  - Run and administer campaigns
  - Coordinate policy-making
- Incumbent = an official seeking re-election
- Grassroots Mobilization = a political movement organized with a bottom-up approach

- For example, an Anarchist revolution :D
- Ticket-Splitting = in an election where multiple ballots are cast for different positions, the voter votes for different parties for each position
  - causes divided government

2016-10-21

Divided Government

- Caused by a number of factors
  - Development of social issues over last 4 decades
    - * Gay marriage
    - * Abortion
    - * Women's rights
    - * Civil rights

Emergence of Political Parties

- Political machines emerged in the early 1800's
  - Exchanged favors for votes
    - * Especially immigrants
- Patronage = elected officials giving benefits to loyal party supporters
  - Giving jobs to campaigners
- Pendleton Civil Service Act = an attempt to make civil service meritocratic
  - Hurt power of political machines
- Local parties have better organization than national parties
- Primary
  - An election orchestrated by a political party that selects a candidate
  - Closed Primary = only voters registered as that party can vote
  - Open Primary = independents and those registered as that party can vote
  - Inhibits parties from choosing the candidate they want
    - * Unless you're the DNC; in which case, screw that lol
- Coalition = a group of voters that share a common interest
  - Typically support one party over a period of time
  - Voting in blocks makes endorsements important for candidates

Party Eras

- Party Era = a period of time when one political party is dominant
  - Caused by coalitions growing and shrinking in size
- Critical Election = an election that serves as boundaries between party eras
  - e.g. FDR in 1932
- Party Realignment = new issue redraws coilition bounds, changing the political parties in the process

2016-10-24

Party Eras in History

- New Deal Coalition = 1932-1968
  - Voted consistently for Democratic party
  - Groups included
    - * Urban working class
    - * African Americans
    - * Catholics and Jews
    - * Lower-income families
    - * Southerners
- Divided Government Coalition = 1968-present
  - Presidential elections typically don't align with Congressional results
  - Caused by number of things
    - * Distrust in government
      - · Vietnam war
      - · Watergate scandal
      - · Investigative journalism
    - $\ast\,$  Social issues emerge
      - · Abortion
  - Dealignment = party coalitions start to shift, many people disengage

Third Parties

- Can serve to spread messages into the popular consciousness
- "Splinter", "Economic Protest", "Charismatic Leader"
- Disenfranchised by our electoral system
  - First Pas the Post/Single Member District voting
    - * Winner takes all, nothing for loser
    - * "Democracy is nothing more than mob rule, where 51% of the people may take away the rights of the other 49%." Jefferson
- Proportional Representation = seats in Congress are distributed based on votes received by each party
- Coalition Government = multiple parties come together to make policy

What Are Interest Groups?

- Interest Group = a body of people who organize under similar policy goals
- How is that different from a "political party"?
  - Political parties offer candidates for president
  - Interest groups are policy specialists
    - * Means they write legislation on a very specific issue
  - Political parties are policy generalists
    - * Means they write legislation for broad purposes

Negative Perception of Interest Groups

- Generally, interest groups are seen as a negative influence on politics
- Why?
  - Framers of the constitution looked down on "factions"?
    - * James Madison, Federalist Paper #10
      - · Warns against factions
  - Corrupt lobbyists get a lot of attention by the media
  - "Lobbying" seen as corporate influence on politics

Iron Triangles

- Iron Triangle = a relationship formed between Congress, interest groups, and federal agencies(the Bureaucracy)
- Issue Network = groups of entities that are connected through the effort to get a law passed

Running for President

- Presidential Primary = election through which candidates for president are selected
  - Caucus = people gather in a room and vote with their feet, each candidate has a chance to convince the others
    - * Like how Mongol societies voted with horse
    - * Iowa is first caucus
  - Primary = simple ballot casting procedure that selects a candidate using the FPTP system
  - Criticism
    - * Early caucuses and primaries get more attention
    - * Later states are discouraged from participating if not a close race
    - * Frontloading = state holds a primary or caucus early to get all that sweet, sweet media attention
- National Party Convention = delegates allocated during primary season meet to vote for who the party's official candidate will be
  - Usually, primary winner is already known due to vote count
    - * Doesn't stop media from making damned good use of all that footage of balloons falling
  - Serves to unite the party after a bitter primary season
